BRISBANE COMEDY FESTIVAL 2018

Bigger, funnier than ever before

Feel like you could use a laugh this weekend or any time during the next few weeks? Who couldn't, right? So we're very happy to hear that Brisbane's annual comedy festival is back, and while it's often over-said about annual events - this year- it really is bigger and better than ever before.

Brisbane Comedy Festival 2018 boasts the city's largest ever line-up of big Aussie names and huge international acts. Running until March 25, the funny men, women and groups from all over the world have brought their best gags to three venues across the city - Brisbane Powerhouse, Brisbane City Hall and SunPAC (just the other side of the city in Macgregor).

With just three weeks left it's best to be quick. Notable Aussie acts on the bill include household names Akmal, Fiona O'Loughlin, Wil Anderson, Celia Pacquola, Dave Hughes, Becky Lucas, Joel Creasey, Lawrence Mooney, Matt Okine, Zoë Coombs Marr, Nazeem Hussain and Tom Gleeson.

Leading the pack of international laugh masters are Jim Gaffigan, who will kick off his anticipated Australian and New Zealand tour with his Brisbane debut (March 23-24), Irishmen Jimeoin (March 16-17) and Des Bishop, Canadian DeAnne Smith, Englishmen Stephen K Amos and Jeff Green (March 9-11), who will be celebrating 30 years on the comedy circuit with a special show. Also on the bill is beloved Kiwis Cal Wilson and Urvila Carlson, Scottish star Daniel Sloss and American Rich Hall, making his long-awaited return.

With tickets selling fast, if you do happen to miss out on the big international acts or your favourite Aussie comedians we encourage to try some of the up-and-comers. If you've been to any recent local comedy, you'll already know it's of very high standards. Besides, everyone already knows, Aussies are funny buggers.

One of the Messenger staff had a chance to catch Lawrence "Moonman" Mooney doing stand-up recently and has been raving ever since. As Australia's foremost Prime Minister Malcolm Turnbull impersonator, this is one not to miss (March 10-11).

For those on a budget, the late-night gigs offer bang for buck with cheap-as-chips laughs at the adults only variety show After Hours, a popular festival fixture that promises a mix of local favourites and circuit stalwarts getting loose, trying new material and bringing back some old favourites.

Some of Australia's exciting new voices will tackle close to home topics such as crass takes of Aussie hip hop, absurdist sketches and sharp-witted improvisation. Logie-nominated comic Heath Franklin will earn a new legion of worshippers with his larger-than-life 'Chopper' parody in Bogan Jesus.

Of special note is a highly anticipated 90s sitcom inspired show Yada Yada Yada created by and starring comic savants Lauren Edwards and Jude Perl. Playing two shows only (Friday

The Messenger had a chance to chat with Lauren and Jude (on our cover in-character) last week about the show.

"It's a love song to television sitcom of the 90's. There are lots of characters and tropes that you would associate with that era of television. So the show is a look at that golden age," Lauren said.

"It was a very clean kind of humour, where it was often about the family unit and mishaps they find themselves in."

Jude and Lauren are both big fans of the era. The big ones, Seinfeld of course, the pair's favourite The Nanny, Friends, Home Improvement, Golden Girls.

In Yada Yada Yada, the characters are directly inspired by Fran Fine and her Grandmother Yetta. When we chatted both comedienne slipped seamlessly into character with flawless and over the top New York Jewish accents.

The show will bring comic savants Jude and Lauren, described as "Australia's next Gina Riley and Jane Turner" by Stage Whispers for two shows only, March 16&17 at City Hall. If a journey through what made '90s sitcoms iconic sounds all that to you, don't miss it. Tickets are $30 with concessions available.

The 2018 Brisbane Comedy Festival runs until Sunday March 25 at the Brisbane Powerhouse, Brisbane City Hall and SunPAC. For more info and tickets visit www.brisbanecomedyfestival.com or call 07 3358 8600.

TAX CUTS FOR BUSINESSES

YES OR NO?

In 2008 the Reserve Bank of Australia, economists, policy makers and some of Australia's most successful businesses met in the great walls of Parliament House to form the Henry Tax Review.

The Henry Tax Review has been referred to as the holy grail of taxation reform in Australia, however many of its recommendations have gathered dust, until now.

Last week Luke Howarth MP, Federal Member for Petrie took the Acting Prime Minister, Senator the Hon Mathias Cormann, Minister for Finance, to local Narangba business Kingswood Cabinets to speak about issues facing their company.

Owner of Kingswood Cabinets, Tom Raleigh said "paying less tax and being able to retain a greater amount of earnings within the business will enable companies to invest in the people and equipment required to keep these enterprises competitive and viable in an increasingly global environment."

Currently the tax rate for small and medium businesses sits at 27.5 per cent and businesses that turnover more than $50m pay 30 per cent tax. The Federal Coalition government is aiming to lower the corporate tax rate for all businesses to 25 per cent.

Over the past few years we have seen countries like the United States lower their corporate tax rate to 21 per cent, 17 per cent in the United Kingdom and 25 per cent in France.

During the Acting Prime Minister's visit he said "we need to make sure that businesses here in Australia are not disadvantaged."

"We need to support local businesses like Kingswood Cabinets to ensure we are creating more jobs for locals in our region and companies don't look to overseas manufacturing to cut costs" said Luke Howarth MP.

RECENT COMPETITION WINNERS

Congratulations to readers Kirsten Featherston and Rebecca Fredric who are each taking three mates and themselves along to the epic Manganiyar Seduction tonight.

More recent winners were readers Craig Acton and Jason Brightwell who each scored double passes to the JT/Cam Smith Testimonial match last Friday at Suncorp Stadium, which saw the Cowboys snatch a last minute win over the Storm 16-14. We bet they got wet, but had a lot of fun.

WORRIED MY BOY IS TOO FEMININE AND WANT TO TOUGHEN HIM UP

Hello Leonie,

I have a 12-year-old boy who never seems to play with other boys. He never has any friends over or goes to anyone's house to play.

He seems happy enough and laughs a lot, but I would like to see him mix with other boys and do boy things. I have three daughters, one younger than him and two older and my son spends all his time with them playing and watching tv.

I am worried that he is becoming too feminine and would like him to join some sports to toughen him up. He will sit at the table when his aunts are over and join in the girl talk and he likes going grocery shopping.

He loves cooking and is quite good at it, but I hate seeing him in the kitchen. I have a gay cousin and am worried that my son might be heading down this track.

What can I do to make sure that he grows up to be a man?

Lisa/North Lakes

Hello Lisa,

I must admit to feeling a bit sad as I read your email. I was just wondering what your definition of a man is. Now without getting into the whole nature vs. nurture argument, I think that it is safe to say that sexual preferences don't run in families and that baking a cupcake will not turn a boy gay any more than enrolling him in contact sports would ensure that he is heterosexual. I know men that I consider to be the epitome of manhood and they also happen to be homosexual. When I think about what it means to be a man, I think about caring for the family, shouldering responsibility, setting a good standard of honesty, reliability and caring for others.

I don't believe that you could raise a child to be heterosexual any more than you could raise a child to be homosexual. Even if one argues that environmental factors play a role in our sexual development, I don't accept that it can totally change our orientation. I would rather work with people to help them accept themselves as they are and encourage healthy relationships than try to explore why they identify to a certain sexual identity.

Now as for the so called feminine activities that your son is engaging in; I can't see any problems. Your boy loves spending time with his sisters and engaging in household activities. Do you know that men make great chefs? Getting your son to join sporting activities against his will in an ill intended attempt to toughen him up could damage his sense of self and your relationship with him.

If you would like your son to have more socialisation outside the family unit, you could ask him what kinds of activities he would enjoy and pursue these. I feel that it is important to let your son decide what would make him happy, always remembering that if a child engages in activities that they enjoy, they tend to develop those skills much more quickly and competently.

I think that there would be many parents reading this article who have boys who are constantly fighting, torturing their siblings, causing strife and getting suspended from school. I reckon they would tell you to thank your lucky stars for having such a good boy. I see lots of young adolescents in my practice who think it's fun to throw rocks at cars, break into houses and vandalise people's property.

My best advice would be to take your cues from your son and enjoy the lovely child that he is. Consider not being judgemental and imposing your ideas of how your son should be in this world. Its our job as parents to guide our children towards socially responsible and compassionate behaviours, not to tell them who to be. I suspect that he will make a great family orientated husband one day regardless of his sexual orientation and his sisters will have given him some valuable experience in understanding women whether he chooses to marry one or not. I can't see any negatives here.

Til next week, Leonie

TIP-OFFS SHINE A LIGHT ON DODGY WORKPLACES

20,000 reports of unlawful practices in workplaces

Thousands of anonymous reports from concerned members of the community are assisting the Fair Work Ombudsman to target unlawful practices in workplaces across Australia to deliver outcomes for workers who might otherwise not seek help.

Since the launch of its Anonymous Report tool in mid-2016, the regulator has received more than 20,000 tip-offs alleging potential workplace breaches.

The reports from the public are leading to positive outcomes for vulnerable workers who may be unwilling or unable to reveal their identity and approach the Fair Work Ombudsman.

In one matter, Fair Work inspectors conducted an unannounced visit at a retail business after receiving an anonymous report alleging employees received as little as $8 per hour, cash in hand.

An audit of the company's records uncovered evidence of contraventions in relation to pay rates, break entitlements and pay slip requirements.

Inspectors issued the company with a Compliance Notice and a contravention letter, resulting in approximately $50,000 in wages and entitlements being paid back to workers.

The company also increased pay rates to ensure compliance in the future.

Fair Work Ombudsman Natalie James said information received from members of the public also provided valuable intelligence which helped design future compliance activities.

"We also know that most people who use the tool provide information about their current employment," Ms James said.

"We always urge employees to come forward if they have concerns in the workplace, but we appreciate that it can be a hard thing to do. With our Anonymous Report tool, workers can come to us and tell us what is happening now without the risk of being identified," Ms James said.

Ten thousand anonymous reports were made via the tool in its first 11 months of operation and this figure has doubled in just a further eight months - showing increasing take up of the function by members of the public.

A large proportion of anonymous reports received each month relate to the hospitality industry, with retail the next most-reported industry. The vast majority of reports contain allegations concerning pay.

Young people, students and visa holders all account for a significant number of the anonymous reports received, an indication of the vulnerability of these cohorts in the workplace.

Anonymous reports can be made in English or one of 16 other languages at www.fairwork.gov.au/tipoff.

Employers and employees can visit www.fairwork.gov.au or call the Fair Work Infoline on 13 13 94 for free advice and assistance about their rights and obligations in the workplace. A free interpreter service is available on 13 14 50.

After a wonderful festive season, then celebrating the new year, we're extending greetings from "THE HAPPIEST LIONS CLUB in AUSTRALIA".

As usual in our club, we are looking forward to helping people in our community now that 2018 is well and truly with us. With the new year comes new challenges and it's encouraging to know that whatever we're presented with, the North Lakes Lions Club is up to it and will overcome and maneuver around any speed bumps that arise.

Firstly, we had a massive Christmas cake & puddings run in November and December last year. These products are superior to many of the similar products in the marketplace and have a long shelf life. We still have a few boxes of both we'd like to sell in the next couple of months, so if you enjoy fruit cake and pudding's and you'd like to purchase one, please phone Lion Barry Maxfield on 07 3886 3974 or 0435 513 715 and he can make arrangements to have yours put aside so you can pick them up.

Sunday, the 4th of March, Lion

Deb Burgess is Co-ordinating our annual contribution to the Clean Up Australia Campaign. Members of our club will be meeting at the Aurora Boulevard Park, North Lakes at 9.00am and will concentrate our efforts in that area. If you see our people out doing their thing, please give them an encouraging wave in appreciation of their efforts in making our wonderful suburb just that little bit cleaner.

Sunday, the 11th of March finds us back at Bunning's North Lakes in the BBQ tent. We have been part of the Bunning's in this capacity since the store opened, so do come along and experience our friendly team on the day. You can also grab a Christmas cake or pudding there as well.

Grill'd North Lakes, that terrific restaurant in the Westfield complex has nominated the North Lakes Lions as one of three organisations to take part in their community promotion. Customers are given tokens when they purchase a main item from the menu. The customer then places the token in choice of 3 jars. Organisation with the most tokens at the end of the month receive $300 and the other two groups, $100 each. So please go along, have a great meal at Grill'd and hopefully you'll drop your token in our jar.

WFAAK - Walk for An Aussie Kid - Lake Eden Sunday the 20th of May 2018 at 8.00am. This project is being Co-ordinated by Lion Tim Burgess with the Marketing and Sponsorship well underway. What he needs now is for people to come along to this worthwhile event and participate. You can register on the walk for an aussie kid north lakes lions Facebook Page, go to Events and please like it and share it with all your friends. This will get the message out there into the community. You can pay on the day: Adults $10, School age children $5 and any pre-school-age walkers are free.

Don't forget, that you too can become a member of the North Lakes Lions Club by phoning our Membership Officer Lion Greg Milne directly, on 0449 294 734. He'll answer any initial questions and invite you to our next Dinner meeting.

Till next time, Lion Chris.

THE WAY BACK AFTER A SUICIDE ATTEMPT

BY DR ANITA, BRISBANE NORTH PHN

A new support service based in Redcliffe will help people who are most at risk of dying by suicide.

The Way Back Support Service will deliver personalised support to people discharged from Redcliffe Hospital following a suicide attempt.

The suicide rate in Redcliffe was 17.6 between 2012 and 2016, according to the Australian Bureau of Statistics, which makes it one and a half times the national average of 11.74.

Speaking at The Way Back launch at Redcliffe Hospital last month, Federal Member for Petrie Luke Howarth said the Australian Government had provided funding of more than $800,000 through Brisbane North PHN to support a trial of this new service.

"Up to one quarter of those who will actually attempt suicide will try again within three months of leaving hospital," Mr Howarth said.

"This is obviously not acceptable and we must intervene to do what we can to stop this cycle. It's critical that we provide support within the three month period immediately after people leave hospital," he said.

Nationally, more than half those discharged from hospital receive no support or follow-up treatment. The Way Back, a national initiative designed by beyondblue and delivered locally by Mental Illness Fellowship Queensland (MIFQ), now fills that gap.

The Way Back provides one-on-one care to guide people safely through this critical risk period and ordinarily this is non-clinical. But, as part of this local implementation, MIFQ is also providing clinical support to meet an identified service gap in the Redcliffe area.

When people are referred from Redcliffe Hospital to The Way Back, the specialised team will work together with the individual and their support people to identify their needs, develop a personalised safety plan, connect them to health and community services and clinical care, if needed.

"THE SPECIALISED TEAM WILL WORK TOGETHER WITH THE INDIVIDUAL AND THEIR SUPPORT PEOPLE TO IDENTIFY THEIR NEEDS, DEVELOP A PERSONALISED SAFETY PLAN, CONNECT THEM TO HEALTH AND COMMUNITY SERVICES AND CLINICAL CARE, IF NEEDED."

Support is provided for up to three months.

Tina Pentland's son Hamish died in 2009, with a history of mental health issues and several suicide attempts. She was also a member of the committee responsible for establishing The Way Back Support Service in Redcliffe.

"The Way Back Support Service offers real hope for recovery for people after a suicide attempt," Ms Pentland said.

"The service offers short-term support to meet the individual's needs and opens paths towards long-term strategies for living and further options for ongoing care," she said.

"The Way Back's Support Coordinators involve carers and families throughout a person's recovery process. The impact of suicide on families is devastating, so it's important to provide them with a source of hope and support during an incredibly difficult and frightening time.

"My son Hamish was 20 when he first attempted suicide. If the Way Back existed as a support for him then, I believe he could have had the early support he desperately needed to help him take control of his mental health and give him hope for life and he might still be alive today."

MIFQ CEO Jennifer Pouwer said the non-profit service provider was committed to providing quality support that enables each individual to reclaim their life.

"As an organisation and, more personally, from our front-line support team, it is an immense privilege to work with members of our community during what is a very vulnerable time in their lives," Ms Pouwer said.

TRANSFORMING GOMA

With a James Turrell Light Commission

Get your Instagram fingers ready for when GOMA gets lit with a major architectural light installation by famed international artist James Turrell

Commissioned to illuminate the facade of Brisbane's Gallery of Modern Art (GOMA), from Friday 20 April, 2018, the installation will be completely transformed from dusk until 12 midnight daily by the ambitious new light installation.

"I invite all of QAGOMA's local and visiting audiences to join us from 7.00pm on Friday 20 April, to experience first-hand James Turrell's artwork – an ever-evolving pattern of intensifying and diffusing coloured light," said Queensland Art Gallery | Gallery of Modern Art (QAGOMA) Director Chris Saines.

"The activation of Turrell's artwork onsite is a unique milestone in the history of the Gallery of Modern Art, the Queensland Cultural Centre and Brisbane, and it's a time for us all to celebrate."

"We are thrilled James will be joining us for this momentous occasion, a public celebration on the Maiwar Green lawn outside GOMA," Mr Saines said.

"During the development of GOMA, lead an artist impression of James Turrell's GOMA installation architects Kerry Clare, Lindsay Clare and James Jones envisaged an artist-illuminated 'white box' on the Gallery's main pedestrian approaches."

"More than a decade on, Turrell's architectural light installation realises the potential of GOMA's white box facade, and completes a major aspect of the architects' original design intention."

"This work will truly transform the way local, interstate and international audiences experience the building at night."

Queensland Arts Minister Leeanne Enoch said the Queensland Government was proud to support the exciting project.

"The installation is a fantastic addition to GOMA and will further enhance Queensland's reputation as a world-class cultural tourism destination," she said.

For more than half a century, American James Turrell has worked with light and space to create immersive and moving artworks that play with viewers' perceptions.

Turrell's large-scale luminous installation for GOMA is a first for the artist and unique in terms of the many other light works he has created in and on buildings and within the landscape around the world.

The Queensland Government has contributed funds towards the development of this ambitious commission and QAGOMA has also received an outstanding lead donation from Paul and Susan Taylor, along with generous contributions from The Neilson Foundation and donors to the 2017 QAGOMA Foundation Appeal to realise this iconic addition to Brisbane's cityscape.

THE PROPOSAL

Clever concept Dinner-and-Show centering around the theme of love, relationships and the proposal

The Proposal is an intriguing concept devised and directed by local theatre identity and President of Redcliffe Musical Theatre, Madeleine Johns.

Madeleine has taken excerpts from famous plays or musicals and linked them with song and dance reflective of the theme.

Opening with a short scene called "Man's Best Friend" - the bride and groom on their way to their honeymoon hotel after their Wedding Breakfast - we then move into an excerpt from The Importance of Being Ernest and witness Jack's proposal to Gwendolen and her mother (Lady Bracknell's) very famous response. We then move to London and the drawing room of Prof Henry Higgins on the day that Eliza Doolittle calls with her proposal that he make her a lady in a flower shop by teaching her to speak more genteel. And to round out Act 1 we then see Romeo and Juliet in their famous balcony scene.

Act 2 opens with a scene from Private Lives by Noel Coward where passion, laughter, romance, anger, and love set the stage for a battle of the sexes as divorced couple, Amanda and Elyot, find themselves unwittingly thrown together after divorcing some years before. Unknowingly booking adjoining rooms while on honeymoon with their new respective spouses, they are forced to face their true feelings for each other. And following on from this, another pair of jilted lovers - Katisha and Koko from The Mikado. Koko needs to divert Katisha's love for Nanki-Poo, or face certain death, and so he woos her over describing his love for her through song "Willow Tit Willow".

A scene from Macbeth then follows with a lovers tryst based on a very dark proposal - that of murdering the current king in order for Macbeth to take his place. We then round out the evening with a very touching scene called "Resting Place" - an old married couple discuss the highlights of their day at the local cemetery, on their way home from shopping.

The Proposal has six shows between Friday 9 March and Sunday 18 March at Theatre 102 (102 Anzac Avenue, Redcliffe). Tickets cost $44.95 or $39.95 for RMT Members and concessions are available. The venue is licenced. For more information visit www.redcliffemusicaltheatre.com/

YOUR STARS

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19: A transition begun a year ago finally pays off. It's been a long and strange journey but reaching the destination is worth it.

Pisces Feb 20- March 20: It's a gift to see the other point of view, but it's not always wise to say so. Discretion is the better part of valour today.

Aries March 21-April 20: You may balk at an invitation to combine forces, but think it over first. You could bolster your recourses considerably and improve your prospects for success.

Taurus April 21- May 21: Lighten up. You may feel like you have to play the heavy, but a close friend is confused and could use an encouraging word. The same might be said for you.

Gemini May 22 June 21: You wonder if you're ever going to get what you really want. The answer is yes. But you have to give yourself permission to want it first.

Cancer June 22-July 23: If you're going to step in for someone, then you will need to define your terms beforehand. Make it clear that you're filling in and not taking over.

Leo July 24-Aug 23: People may be put off by your audacity. You need that extra swagger to get you through the next few weeks. You can always make nice later.

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23: You need to break ties with someone that showed you the ropes. What used to be mentoring is now turning competitive.

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23: If you don't like it when a friend is trying to talk you out of what you want to do, then why go to this person for advice? Let your own conscience be your guide.

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22: you benefit from someone else's mishandling of a situation. They didn't know how to make the most of it, but thankfully you do.

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21: A far out proposal isn't as farfetched as it sounds. Pursue it wherever it leads. You'll be richer for it.

Capricorn Dec 22- Jan 20: Your home life undergoes another dramatic change, but this time for the better. Expect to see a return of something lost or a new addition.

Prevention is better than Cure!

Australian Standards state that all homes should have at least annual timber pest inspections. Termites are destructive and can destroy a property within a matter of weeks if undetected. Without regular timber pest inspections homeowners could be at risk of termites gaining concealed entry and working their way through the home.

Sandgate Pest Control specialise in termite treatments and control. By booking a timber pest inspection with one of Sandgate Pest Control's experienced technicians you will be able to determine if your home has any current termite issues.

A technician will spend time checking all the accessible timbers throughout the home including the roof void and property boundaries. They will also use a moisture meter on all accessible walls to detect any excess moisture. A full report is given detailing all findings and or recommendations including a quote for termite protection to your home to prevent future termite attack.

RENTAL INFLATION AT 25-YEAR LOW

Recent figures revealed the pace of rental price growth dipped to just 0.6 per cent in 2017, making it the slowest pace of growth since 1993.

Figures contained in the ABS Consumer Price Index showing a deceleration in rents spelt welcome news for families reliant on the rental market.

welcome news for families reliant on the rental market

"The slowdown in rental price pressures has been helped by the completion of large volumes of newly-built dwellings over the last couple of years. Investors, both domestic and foreign, have been instrumental in delivering this additional supply," said HIA Senior Economist Shane Garrett.

"Mortgage interest costs also have a big impact on rents. The fact that interest rates have been so low and so stable over the past two years has taken the pressure off rents."

"During 2017, rents increased by just 0.6 per cent – the slowest pace of growth in any year since 1993."

"Owner occupiers have reaped the rewards of declining interest rates over the past six years. Last week's figures show that those relying on the rental market for their housing needs are also benefitting," concluded Shane Garrett.

"The rate of rental inflation is well below the overall rate of inflation which rose to 1.9 per cent during the December 2017 quarter – just higher than in the previous quarter.

"It was also significantly lower than the increase in general housing costs, which grew by 3.4 per cent over the year. This is predominantly due to rising electricity costs which rose by 12.4 per cent over the past 12 months.

"Several countries' central banks have started to lift their key interest rates. Taken with today's inflation data for Australia and the fact that our labour market is tightening, we expect that the RBA's next rate move will be upwards," concluded Shane Garrett.
